

Trees That Feed Butterfly Larvae

Often gardeners speak in uncomplimentary terms when they discuss the worms that feed on their ornamental plants. However, if you are to attract butterflies to your landscape, you must feed their offspring. The caterpillar, looper, or green worm that feasts on the leaves of your trees is destined to grow up to be that beautiful butterfly. Here are some of the more likely feeding stations for these hungry little fellows.

MAPLE

BIRCH

DOGWOOD

APPLE

PINE

POPLAR

CHERRY

DOUGLAS FIR

OAK

WILLOW

ELM

Windmill Gardens – Come Grow With Us.

- 1 -

Your Destination for Garden Inspiration
5816 162nd Avenue East, Sumner, WA 98390
www.windmillgarden.com